

as seen in
COOKING LIGHT, JAN/FEB 2010

Cooking Light

EASY, HEALTHY &
OUR BEST
TEXAS-STYLE • B
ALL-VEGGIE

Visit CookingLight.com

HEALTHY LIVING KITCHEN

Measures of success

The best insurance against kitchen disasters:
Measure all your ingredients properly every time.

Classic, minimal style
Tovolo's double-ended spoons mean less drawer clutter ($10; cooking.com).

Collapsible cups
Use colorful silicone Sleek-Stor cups from Chef'n to measure dry ingredients ($15; cooking.com).

Weigh to go
The bowl on this Salter mechanical scale has an easy-pour shape ($13; salterhousewares.com).

Standard-setter
The measurements on OXO's flawlessly designed cup are printed on a sloped ring that's easy to read from above as you pour in liquid ($10/4-cup; oxo.com).

Just-right weights
Escali's compact Avia digital scale slips easily into a drawer when it's not in use ($50; escali.com).

A tbsp. of love
Heart-shaped spoons are perfect when you're baking something for your sweetheart ($20; ganz.com).

Love these!
Practical? Maybe not, but we don't care—these adorable nesting Puffer Bird cups are cute enough to covet and display ($36; anthropologie.com).